

LINDSEY WILKINSON

JOURNALIST

ABOUT ME

At UA, I serve as the Editor-in-Chief of Alice, the university's award-winning women's magazine. Previously, I have had bylines in The Crimson White and Homeland Security Today. I am dedicated to creating truthful, fact-based and insightful content that highlights, investigates and uncovers the stories that matter.

CONNECT

WORK EXPERIENCE

Alice Magazine

Editor-in-Chief (present)

I lead an editorial team of 16 and over 50 contributors. In the Fall 2021 semester, we reached over 18,000 readers.

Homeland Security Today

Intern (2021)

I covered a variety of topics including climate security, government technology trends and reports from think tanks.

The Crimson White

Contributing Writer (2020-2021)

During my time at The Crimson White, I covered election experiences, a scholar bowl, hurricane relief and more.

EDUCATION

2019-2022

University of Alabama

Major: News Media
Minor: Political Science & French
GPA: 3.9
Top 7% of News Media Majors
Mentor for the Media Writing Center
University Resident Advisor